

Great new venues among some old favourites

However good the training, we know how important the course venue is to our delegates. We realise that a course hotel must be comfortable, easy to get to and from, offer good service and above all ensure all our delegates feel at home. For 2008 we are introducing two new course venues in the USA and Singapore. Each hotel selected is a superb location to attend a NSF-DBA course – however far you may have to travel.
